PREFATORY NOTE

This check list was planned and initiated by my predecessor, Dr.W.N.C.Carlton, who placed the execution of it in the hands of Fanny Noyes and Mae I. Stearns, members of the Library staff. Before the work was completed Miss Noyes resigned her position and other duties for a considerable time engaged all of Miss Stearns' attention. As soon as practicable, however, the task was resumed by the latter and has now been brought to its conclusion and the list issued in this multigraphed form. It includes all works within its scope in The Newberry Library, October 1, 1922 and a few additions since that date.

The scope of the check list is as follows: It comprises all works in, or partly in English, from the beginning of printing down to and including 1640. No facsimile reproductions or reprints have been listed.

The arrangement is an alphabetical one with entry under the author of the original work and references from translator, editor, joint author, attributed author, etc. Title references have been made only for anonymous works. Where the author's name or initials do not appear on the title-page the author's name has been bracketed in the main entry only.

Titles and imprints have been given in the exact language of title-pages, ellipses having been used for omissions and brackets for matter supplied. Capitalization and punctuation of title-pages have, as a rule, been disregarded but the spelling has been followed as closely as possible, I (both capital and lower case) having been used where it occurs for J, v for u, etc. Where the multigraph has lacked the necessary type to show the tilde, the missing letters of the contraction have been supplied without brackets.*

Collation has been given only in exceptional cases. The Newberry Library call number and a serial number have been added in brackets at the end of each main entry. Where the work has belonged to a famous collection such as Huth, Hoe, Bridgewater, Jones or Chew the fact has been noted.

* Examples will be found in entry 566, line 3, where "prefixed" was written "pfixed" on the title-page with tilde over the "p," and in line 4 "pronunciacion" was written "pronuciacion" with tilde over the "u".

The "Check-list or Brief Catalogue of the Library of Henry E. Huntington <English literature to 1640> Compiled under the direction of George Watson Cole. New York, 1919," has been checked during the time that this list has been in process. It has been consulted constantly and quoted frequently and has been a valuable aid in the compilation of this check list.
